

Kathink Removal of Offensive or Defamatory Content Policy

This Kathink Removal of Offensive or Defamatory Content Policy applies to the services available from the domain and sub-domains of <http://www.kathink.co.uk>, <http://www.kathink.ch>, <http://www.kathink.eu>, <http://www.kathink.com> and from all other Kathink branded websites provided for legal persons who wish to register on Kathink as either Corporates or Business Thinkers (together, the "Site").

The terms of this Policy are deemed to be included in full in the User Agreement that you have entered into with Kathink Ltd, of Pilatusstrasse 35, 6002, Lucerne, Switzerland.

Kathink will not permit the Site to be used by Corporates or Business Thinkers to post content, data, or material which is offensive to others, or to post content, data or material which is defamatory to others (together, "Offensive Content").

Kathink will remove any Offensive Content as soon as possible after being notified in writing by a registered user or a third party that Offensive Content has been posted on the Site, and in the usual course of events such material will be removed within 24 hours of notification.

When Kathink removes Offensive Content from the Site, it will notify the owner of the Content, as well as any user to whom the Content has been transferred to via the Site, that Kathink considers the Content to be Offensive and that it is not to be re-posted or re-submitted on the Site.

Kathink will decide in its sole discretion whether Content is Offensive Content under this Policy and no debate will be entered into by Kathink with the user who submitted the Offensive Content. Additionally, any user who submits Offensive Content shall be liable to Kathink Ltd and shall indemnify Kathink Ltd for and against any damages, liability or losses it suffers as a result of the posting or submission on the Site of the Offensive Content, whether such a liability arises from another registered user or from a third party.

Kathink expressly notifies Corporates and Business Thinkers that in the event that it removes Offensive Content for a violation of this Policy, it reserves the right to report the user with all details available to Kathink of the Offensive Content and any communications on or off the Site relating to the Offending Content, including any Proposals or Commissioned Responses submitted, to the appropriate legal, criminal or regulatory authorities of any relevant country(ies) without any notice to the users concerned. Kathink also reserves the right to suspend or cancel the registration of the users concerned and to suspend or cancel his access to Site services; and to amend the user's feedback data on the Site appropriately.

All Corporates confirm their understanding and agreement that they waive all claims for compensation from Kathink Ltd for any losses or liability that they may incur as a result of Kathink taking action under the terms of this Policy.